++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Some brightness this morning but increasing cloud brings rain later.

Today:
Rather cloudy start, with patchy light rain across Argyll but becoming brighter with some sunny spells around, and to the south of, Glasgow. Increasing cloud this afternoon brings outbreaks of rain northeast through the late afternoon. Freshening southerly winds. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
A cloudy evening and night with outbreaks of rain, the rain persistent and heavy at times. The rain may ease for a time through the early hours. Fresh southerly winds. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Friday:
A cloudy morning with further outbreaks of occasionally heavy rain. During the afternoon the rain eases from the northwest, with perhaps some late brightness across Argyll. Winds easing. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Rather cloudy but mostly dry this weekend, although Ayrshire and Argyll see the best of any sunny spells. Overnight rain clears to leave a bright day Monday with sunny spells.
